Local lead gen, Divorce & Family Law

Lawyer group from Colorado.

LOCATION

Colorado, United States.

ACCOUNT

Active since December 2017

START

March 2020

INITIAL STATE

According to the account analysis, the decision of developing from scratch was resolved:

- broader and more detailed semantics;
- website and landing page content;
- specific URLs for every location and service.

CAMPAIGNS DEVELOPMENT

1. Semantics were collected according to website services and TA.
2. Redistributed semantics to separate search campaigns with dedicated ad copies.
3. Separate URL for every location + service (28 total).
4. Separate budgets according to semantics and demand.
5. Bid adjustments according to age, gender and household income.
6. Observations for interest audiences to every campaign.

We've continuously delivered monitoring and analysis of search queries / keywords, bid adjustments and budgets, and demand changes according to all the KPIs in Google Ads and Google Analytics.

The COVID 19 factor wasn't definitely "beneficial" for the divorce growth, so the comparison to the previous period performance does reflect the actual optimization case.

Campaign performance for Mar 2020 - Dec 2020 vs Feb 2019 - Nov 2019

RESULTS

Despite impressions/click decrease, calls from website conversion grew by 76%.

Bounce Rate 70.27% (-21.24%) Pages/Session 1.82 (+37.36%) Avg. Session Duration 01:01 (+104.05%)

- Clicks 1,096 (-25%) Impression 25,770 (-93%) CTR 4.25 (+995.25%) Conversions 44 (+76%) Bounce Rate 70.27% (-21.24%) Pages / Session 1.82 (+37.36%) Avg. Session Duration 01:01 (+104.05%) Number of impressions/clicks decreased - this is because we assembled TA and semantic core fully corresponding to website services, and potential clients searches with service name in every query. Thus, irrelevant and general search queries were cut off. However, this grew CTR by 995.25%, which means the TA was reached.

CONCLUSIONS

- The most crucial task is to create TA and focus on it.
- The next steps after search campaigns development:
- Branding via GDN;
- YouTube for interest categories;
- Local campaign;
- Competitors' campaigns (search; GDN).
- Google My Business account improvement (+maps),
- Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn

OPTIMIZATION TASKS

- Current campaigns analysis. a. Upon analysis we've decided to partially retain the previous campaigns. b. Priority channels:
 - Search network
 - Remarketing
 - Video campaigns

CAMPAIGNS DEVELOPMENT

b. Redistributed the semantics according to brand, insect types and services.

Performance during first two months:

Impression: 44,819 (+23.40%) CTR 4.56 % (+3.27%) CPC $9.85 (-14.55%) Call Rail Phone Call Conversions: 288 (+26%)

- Clicks: 2,044 (+27.43%) a. Semantics was collected with regards to the website content as well as from the previous campaigns data.

RESULTS WERE SATISFACTORY, BUT A SIGNIFICANT PART OF OPTIMIZATION TASKS STILL REQUIRE COMPLETION

Primarily this consists of the ongoing work to increase semantic core growth as well as adjustment of current keywords and negative keywords. Bids were also adjusted according to demographics, household income, devices, geo locations and season.

CONCLUSIONS

The challenge was to beat a large number of aggressive competitors with a limited daily budget.

We committed a huge number of hours for the initial development of keywords and semantics, taking into account the large repertoire of insects. In particular, it was important to create a proper account structure in particular, and to categorize campaigns according to locations and insects, for better performance analysis. We also prepared engaging ads and ad extensions. Bids were adjusted according to location, gender, age, devices and household incomes. The objective was also to scale, so we were monitoring everything on a daily basis.

Main reasons for jump in KPIs:

1. Keywords. We've collated all possible targeted keywords and have kept monitoring search queries, for continual semantics growth, suspension of non-converters and keywords optimization, according to CTR, CPC and CPA.
2. Negative keywords. Continual exclusion of traffic relating to irrelevant search queries, and initial preparation of negative keyword lists on a daily basis.

STRATEGIES. EXPERIMENTING WITH BIDDING STRATEGIES, TO MAXIMIZE KPIS

A growth in call conversion growth by +300% is a result that has undoubtedly exceeded expectations. The seasonal demand of the business is a sensitive factor for further account adjustment, strategy experimentation and semantics development.

Local lead gen: Pest Control #2 Contract from 2021 till November 2023 SEM platforms: Google Ads; Microsoft Ads.

GOAL: RECEIVE CALLS AND FORM SUBMISSIONS AT MINIMUM CPA

Leads: Form submission, calls.

Location: NY (Nassau County; Suffolk County)

WORK DONE

Important: Budgets were limited for both Google Ads and Bing Ads, so we launched different campaigns by location, paying attention to demand and seasonality.

Bing Ads August 2023 - November 2023 vs April 2023 - July 2023

- Competitors' activity review;
 - Website audit and recommendations;
 - Detailed semantics for all the website offers;
 - Negative keyword lists;
 - Proper keyword split between campaigns and ad groups;
 - Custom ads and call to actions for every ad group;
 - All ad assets possible;
 - Goals.
- Conversions increased by 82.74% January 2022-July 2022 vs January 2023-July 2023 (the previous version of analytics, data was recorded only until July 2023) Conversions grew by 403.83% Conversion rate grew by 342.76% google/cpc August 2023 - November 2023 vs April 2023 - July 2023
 - Conversions grew to 94.62% January 2022-July 2022 vs January 2023-July 2023 (the previous version of analytics, data was recorded only until July 2023) Conversions grew to 53.15% Conversion rate grew by 297.43%

RESULTS SUMMARY

The total number of conversions has been increasing even during the winter period, when demand was low. We were able to increase the number of conversions by delivering ongoing optimization, CPC and categories based on seasonality.

All this time, the work was aimed at increasing the number of conversions within the existing budget.

Important: The size of the budget has not changed all this time.

RESULTS

491 submit lead __ form, 356 assisted conversions.

In a month and a half, we got enough conversions to switch to the account bidding strategy to maximize conversions. This gave us the opportunity to bid for more relevant and more expensive keywords in the Google Ads auction: as a result, conversions increased.

Completed tasks:

- Search query review - we always track and analyze search queries to grow negative keyword lists, as well as to add convertible queries as keywords;
- Create new campaigns according to new services on website;

REVIEW OF AUDIENCE PERFORMANCE, NEW AUDIENCE TESTING;

We've grown this project from zero and delivered results almost from the start. Currently, we deliver optimization for increasing KPIs and quality scores in the account.

- Campaigns data:

CONCLUSION

Initially the account had too broad semantics and so was a waste of budget. Smart campaign wasn't performing well as the most of the spent went on non convertible products.

We filtered most of the keywords and kept as well as expanded more of brands related. This let us reach a more warmed audience.

Initial ad copies didn't have a compelling CTA as well as custom enough headlines and descriptions. All possible ad assets were also added.

OBJECTIVE: GROW CUSTOMERS, DECREASE CPA

Account: since 2011

INITIAL STATE

Four accounts - two of them target registrations and sales. Two others are for mobile app and remarketing.

All the accounts campaigns were built via the K50 automatic tool. It was before pMax arised, but even so the crucial campaigns weren't developed accordingly. There were campaign splits according to devices, demographics and languages as well as different campaigns as remarketing audiences targeting and observation.

In one month we checked every single of them with regards to spent, revenue, ROAS and other KPIs and rebuilt them from scratch (up to 3000 ad groups per single search campaign).

WORK DONE

Important requirement also was the fact that campaigns from different accounts shouldn't have gotten into the same audition according to Google Policies.

Here is the step by step data: 17/11/2021 - 16/12/2021 vs 18/10/2021 - 16/11/2021

- Paused underperforming and high spending campaigns, taking in account both direct and assisted transactions (and registrations) Improved ad copies and created alternatives to split test Improved ad assets and created new ad asset types Adjusted bidding strategies and bids Redistributed budgets Paused certain ad groups and keywords and added other ones Some of the campaigns were splitted according to seasonality Campaigns were also splitted according to demographics, product categories and language Dedicated shopping campaigns for housewares was created (weren't advertised before) Overall delivered optimization took up to three weeks of our dedicated team to review and adjust literally every keyword and dynamic URL after thorough performance review. Worth to mention that prior to our management there were plant of remarketing audiences in the account as well and targets, that weren't properly tracked
- transactions were set as secondary(!), but not primary conversions
- most of remarketing audiences weren't added to campaigns, but interest audiences were added as observations We have agreed target KPIs, we had to reach in just one month.

What we have built

The cases above are advertising accounts. The work on the other side of this company – LinkedIn, automation, custom AI – has no client account to show, so the evidence is what we have built and run ourselves. There are no metrics on this page because there is no client whose numbers these would be.

Top-Rated Team top-rated.team

Several service doors sit in front of one workspace. A visitor asks a question on the door that matches their problem, and when the conversation turns out to be worth keeping it becomes a room at an address of its own, where the client, our people and subject-matter AI agents talk in the same channels. Each agent answers only from the corpus it was given and never from another agent's, so it cites the page it used or says plainly that it cannot answer. What one room can spend on agent answers is bounded three separate ways, and an answer carried from a door page into a room is signed by the server that produced it, so text handed back by a browser cannot be passed off as ours. This is the same application we build for clients on the custom-AI-builds door – which is why the panel on that door is the demonstration rather than a picture of one.

- Offers as data, not pages: nine rows in `shared/doors.ts`, seven of them live today. The row decides which agent opens the conversation, which corpus that agent reads, and whose legal name, terms, invoice line and contact the resulting room prints – so a visitor who came in through a partner's door never sees our invoice.
- A no-signup room at `/w/:token` where the URL is the entire credential: channels, a message column, a task panel, a member rail of people and agents, and a share bar. It is a separate JavaScript chunk the door pages never download.
- Per-agent grounding with no fallback. `server/ai/kb.ts` retrieves from the one namespace named on the agent and can reach no other; with no API key, no corpus, or nothing matching, the agent says what it is missing instead of answering from memory. Eleven agent rows are defined and seven of them read a corpus, across six distinct namespaces.
- Three bounds on what one room may spend on agent answers, in `server/spend.ts`, checked before the model is called: a count of 30 agent turns per room per rolling hour, a 20-minute clock on one unbroken run of activity that starts over after 10 minutes of quiet, and a monthly dollar budget per room that warns the operator at 80% and pauses the room at 100%. They fail in different ways on purpose – the count catches a fast loop, the clock catches a slow one pacing itself under the count, the budget catches few turns each enormous.
- A second, separate monthly ceiling for the public panel at `/api/ask` – counted both in total and per calling address – because that endpoint is on every door, needs no token, and belongs to the internet rather than to a client.
- Answer receipts. An answer streamed to a door page is HMAC-signed with a key generated per process, and a carried answer is dropped unless the signature matches that exact text, so nobody can POST an invented 'agent' message and get a real room at a real address on our domain to show as evidence of a promise. A restart simply makes the room ask the agent again.
- A room that cannot say which company is answerable for it says so: with no door stamped on it, the footer and the member rail report the fault rather than defaulting to the house name.
- Degradation as a feature: the whole thing runs with an empty `.env`. No OpenAI key and the agents say live answers are not configured while the human routes keep working; no `DATABASE_URL` and storage is in-memory with the same interface; no embeddings file and retrieval drops to keyword scoring. Nothing is faked in any of those states.
- One Node process serving the JSON API, the WebSocket at `/ws` and the built client – React 18, Vite, TypeScript, Tailwind, Radix / shadcn-ui, wouter, TanStack Query, Express, ws, Drizzle over Postgres (optional) and the OpenAI SDK. The workspace token is kept out of stdout and out of the outbound lead webhook, `/w/` is disallowed in `robots.txt` and served with `X-Robots-Tag noindex`, the agents' house rules forbid accepting passwords, API keys or ad-account credentials pasted into chat, and workspace creation, lead capture, invites, messages and `/api/ask` each carry their own per-IP rate limit.

AdGrant.AI is a free web tool for nonprofits that already hold a Google Ad Grant: it takes the nonprofit's website URL, the 10-digit Google Ads Customer ID and the target languages and locations, analyses the website, and generates a full account structure – campaigns, ad groups, keywords, responsive ads, sitelinks, callouts and structured snippets. The generated structure can be reviewed and downloaded as one CSV per type, or written straight into the nonprofit's own Google Ads account by what the page calls "Automated API Upload" – "Upload everything directly to your Google Ads account via API. No manual work required." – which requires the account to be connected to the Top-Rated Team manager account (MCC), a connection the Terms say "can be revoked at any time through your Google Ads settings". Free use is capped at 3 verified Customer IDs and 3 total generations, gated either by LinkedIn sign-in (the page says it uses only the profile URL, to limit free generations) or by sending the Customer ID as a LinkedIn message; the site directs anyone needing more capacity or premium service to contact it on LinkedIn. Alongside the tool the same domain runs a content library – an Ad Grant glossary, case studies, tips and tricks, starter templates, and nonprofit guides by vertical and by city – plus a four-item Stripe checkout list and a 20% lifetime affiliate program paid out by PayPal.

- React single-page app served as a static build (react-dom in the bundle; /assets/index-<hash>.js as an ES module, the standard Vite output shape, and 'vite' appears as a string in the bundle)
- wouter for client-side routing – live routes seen in the bundle: /, /resources, /templates, /templates/:slug, /nonprofits, /nonprofits/:niche, /nonprofits/:niche/:location, /nonprofits/locations/:location, /privacy-policy, /terms-of-service, /admin, /affiliate, /affiliate-admin
- Tailwind CSS with shadcn/ui on Radix UI primitives (a 'shadcn-card' class, and Radix component names such as Dialog and Switch, appear in the bundle)
- lucide-react icon set
- zod schemas for the generator form (website URL validated as a URL; Customer ID validated against /^\\d{3}-\\d{3}-\\d{4}$/)
- A query-cache data layer over its own JSON API (/api/generate, /api/upload/:id, /api/export/:id, /api/csv/:id/<type>.csv, /api/locations/search, /api/content/pages, /api/templates, /api/auth/linkedin, /api/auth/session)
- Google Ads API – the Privacy Policy lists it as a third party the service shares information with, "To validate keywords and upload account structures"
- Google Ads manager account (MCC) named 'Top-Rated Team' as the link the automated upload runs under
- LinkedIn OAuth sign-in (/api/auth/linkedin), used per the page only to cap free generations
- Stripe Payment Links for the paid services (buy.stripe.com checkout URLs)
- PayPal for affiliate payouts
- Google Tag Manager (container GTM-K9PQW2ZM)
- Google Translate website widget, auto-selected from navigator.language, offering ru, uk, cs, en, de, fr, es, it, pt, pl, zh-CN, ja, ko
- Google Fonts
- An admin panel and a separate affiliate-admin dashboard, both token-gated, shipped in the same bundle

Top Voice is a LinkedIn visibility platform built around reactions rather than outreach: you describe your business and who you sell to, and it generates a Signal Flow of boolean searches that assembles a feed of your target prospects' posts, then reacts to those posts on behalf of your profile or company page with natural, human-like timing. Because LinkedIn resurfaces posts you have reacted to in the feeds and notifications of the author and the author's own connections, the profile or page earns inbound visits instead of sending cold messages. The app is organised in three sections: Research (Influence Flows built from real influencer voices), Appear (Content Studio and Autopilot publishing) and Grow (LinkedIn Boosting). The page is equally explicit about what it refuses to do: no bulk cold outreach or DMs, no engagement pods, and no AI comments.

- Instant AI Setup: four fields generate an Influence Flow, a content campaign and a boosting campaign
- Influence Flows - synthesised influencer voices, including custom ones from any LinkedIn profile URL
- Content Studio with Autopilot: post copy, images, carousel PDFs and video, published to profiles or company pages on a schedule
- LinkedIn Booster: AI-generated Signal Flow boolean searches that assemble a targeted posts feed
- Reaction engine with human-like pacing - randomised 5-60 second delays and selectable reaction types
- Rented-account pool: dedicated in-house LinkedIn accounts, blocking-free with a replacement guarantee
- Performance Plan billing on Stripe: own and rented account slots, campaign slots, proration, auto top-up
- Engager and profile-viewer tracking with webhook and Google Sheets delivery
- AI Optimize plus an approve-before-apply queue, so no AI suggestion changes a campaign unreviewed
- MCP connectors - Add to ChatGPT and Add to Claude - alongside in-app, web-chat and LinkedIn DM entry points
- Guided in-app walkthrough for each section, plus referral and three-level affiliate program

WarmLike is a done-for-you LinkedIn visibility service built around a second, managed page rather than your own account. The site describes the mechanism in four steps, in its own words: you “Tell us your profile & niche” over a LinkedIn message or a short call (“That’s the whole setup – no dashboards, no login, no password”); WarmLike then “spin[s] up a polished LinkedIn company page from your business – on-brand name, logo, and description”, called a pre-lander and described as “a warm front door that points target prospects to your profile”; that page “proactively engages the posts of your exact target prospects – reactions and comments that ramp up gradually”; and the prospects it engaged “get notified, check it out, and find your reshared post – with you as its author”, then “click straight through to your personal LinkedIn profile, hands-off”. Content is part of the service: “Every day we write a fresh, niche-tuned post and suggest it to you”, reviewed and approved from a private link, published to your own profile, and then reshared by the managed page. The positioning is explicitly compliance-first – the headline reads “Boost your LinkedIn Profile, without linking it anywhere. 100% secured & compliant.”, and the copy states “We share access, not you. No pods, bots, spam, AI comments. Your LinkedIn account is untouchable: violations and ban free.” The FAQ answers “No. We never log into or post from your personal profile” and “There’s no login to create and no password to share.” “Warming” is defined on the page as building the page’s presence gradually “so growth looks organic and stays healthy, never a suspicious overnight spike.” Four summary stats run across the page as labels, not measurements: Daily / on-brand posts, Zero / logins to share, Gradual / natural warming, 24/7 / hands-off growth.

- A single-page marketing and onboarding site at warmlike.com. It is a client-rendered React/Vite application: the served HTML is a 13 KB shell with an empty `` and no prerendered body, so all visible copy is delivered by JavaScript. The bundle is shared with Top Voice and switches to the WarmLike app by hostname, matching warmlike.com, warmliker.com and warmlikes.com. Beyond the landing route the WarmLike app registers routes for `/message`, `/hub/:token`, `/preview/:token`, `/post/:token` and `/demo` – consistent with the “review everything from a private link” flow the copy promises, though those token routes were not exercised. The landing page itself carries a hero with a 2-week-free-trial badge, a numbered explanation of the mechanism, a four-step “You / We build / We boost / You grow” walkthrough with illustrated LinkedIn mockups, an explainer video block (“A 60-second look at how WarmLike grows your LinkedIn presence – fully managed”), an interactive pricing and projection widget driven by a “boosters” slider, a five-question FAQ, and CTAs that all resolve to either a LinkedIn message or a booked call. HubSpot chat and a Replit analytics script are loaded on the page.

Upwork Proposal Agent

Runs inside Claude Code as the /upwork-apply skill and drives the user's own logged-in Upwork session through the Claude in Chrome browser tools – there is no cloud browser and no shared Upwork account. A round opens the search URLs from the user's own profile config, checks each listing against a seen.md watermark and an applied.md log so nothing is triaged or applied to twice, drops anything that fails the profile's reject rules or any of the client's stated Preferred qualifications, and writes an English cover letter plus screening answers built only from the evidence bank in that user's config. It then fills the Upwork proposal form field by field – rate or milestones, letter, each screening question, case-study attachment – and stops: pressing "Send for X Connects" requires the user to have confirmed that specific proposal in that session, a rule the skill states outranks the auto-reply setting. Scheduled and background runs are stricter again – they never open the proposal form at all and leave drafts as files for review.

- Claude Code skill: SKILL.md plus references/ (upwork-pages.md page-and-form map, inbox-flow.md, onboarding.md) at ~/.claude/skills/upwork-apply
- Modes as skill arguments: setup (in-chat onboarding), a default interactive round, duty (turns the live session into the scheduler), background (drafts only), inbox, sync
- Browser control via the Claude in Chrome MCP tools (mcp_claude-in-chrome_*) against the user's own signed-in Chrome; CAPTCHA, logins, payments, identity verification and Connects purchases hand control back to the human
- Markdown state kept deliberately outside the skill folder, because a plugin update overwrites that folder: a personal profile config (rates, tone, reject rules, evidence bank), a case library, and an upwork-logs/ directory holding applied.md, seen.md, drafts-<date>.md, slots.txt and last-run-epoch
- Incremental scanning: results are read newest-first and matched by job ID against seen.md; two consecutive already-seen listings stop that URL, and a catch-up after downtime pages deeper so nothing new is missed between sessions
- Rate-limit and anti-bot guards written into the skill: daily proposal and Connects limits, minutes of spacing between sends, a cap of 3 drafts per background run and 5 per day, and a skip if the previous round ran under 20 minutes ago and found nothing new
- Optional Google Sheet sync (Profile / Evidence / Answers / Schedule tabs) for editing settings away from the machine, last-write-wins by timestamp, off by default; the chat/GPT/Grok settings front ends can only edit the Sheet and take no Upwork actions
- Scheduling: duty mode reads slots.txt and creates one recurring Claude Code cron task per slot; an optional launchd job is offered as a macOS safety net, and a self-paced /loop is offered as an alternative because cron slots can bunch up
- Experimental Node stdio MCP server (mcp/upwork-agent/server.js) exposing local profile, drafts, inbox-pending, run-status and schedule tools; its own file header states the tools touch local profile/logs only and never Upwork Send
- Distribution as a Claude Code plugin for other people to install: a Stop hook runs sync.sh after each session, which mirrors the live skill folder into a git repo, bumps the plugin.json patch version, commits and pushes; each user runs it on their own machine with their own config and logs

Being.Marketing: Your Existential Coach being.marketing

A quiet companion for rest from anxious purpose-hunting, tasks, and roles, and a clear mirror for your inner language – the listing invites you to lay down a concern or identity like a stone. It is offered two ways: as a custom ChatGPT, or reached from the web without logging in to ChatGPT, which the page describes as being for ultimate privacy. The page also says your dialogue can seed your GPT's training data or AI prompt to share as a custom ChatGPT, so others can quietly sit beside it as well. It is published and listed free on the being.marketing storefront.

- Custom ChatGPT – offered as the "Custom ChatGPT" option on the listing
- A web version usable without a ChatGPT login – the "W/o login to ChatGPT" option, described on the page as being for ultimate privacy

How to read them

Every figure comes from the advertising account it describes, over the period that page names, in the form the client saw it. Where a case gives no figure for something, the account did not measure it – a gap is left as a gap rather than filled with an estimate.

These are advertising results. They are evidence of work done on comparable accounts and they are not a forecast: what an account does next depends on its market, its offer and its budget, and anybody who tells you otherwise before seeing it is guessing.

The hours and the job-success score on the cover are the public record on Upwork and can be checked there.
